New Chatswood Eye Hospital To Be The National Benchmark

Presmed Australia (PMA), a Sydney based healthcare company specialising in ophthalmic day hospitals, is partnering with local ophthalmologists to open a new private eye hospital in one of the leading Greenfield sites in Chatswood, on the corner of Albert and Archer Streets. The new hospital will have five operating theatres, twelve recovery trolleys, 16 day surgery recliner chairs and four overnight beds. Building commences in late 2013 with the hospital opening scheduled for July 2015.

PMA's current Chatswood facility, Ophthalmic Surgery Centre North Shore (OSC) has been operational since 1997 and is a recognised leader in eye surgery.

"The Centre is reaching full capacity so we need to expand and develop a new private eye hospital to cater to demand," says Marc Resnik, Managing Director of PMA. "This is an exciting venture which will cement Chatswood as the leading destination for eye surgery in Sydney, as well as setting a new professional benchmark for the Australian ophthalmic community," Mr Resnik says.

The dedicated eye facility will be accredited to the highest quality and safety healthcare standards and be staffed by specialised ophthalmic nurses and North Shore ophthalmologists using the latest state of the art equipment and precision instrumentation. Read more

JULIEYE GP Educational Dinner – Ophthalmic Clinical Update

Ophthalmic Surgery Centre and Epping Surgery Centre will be holding GP educational evenings on Thursday July 18 and 25, respectively, following the success of last year's dinner. These dinners will host eight Ophthalmologists who will present on various topics to ensure that GP's are informed of the latest research and progress on eye care. These dinners will coincide with the RANZCO Eye Foundation JulEYE public health promotion month. Find out more.
